January 2011

According to "Knitting Patterns," a jaunty piece in this month's issue of MR Magazine, author John Jones writes, "... knitwear manufacturers are banking on novelty sweaters with retro styling to ride the pendulum swing from woven to knitwear into the fall 2011 season." Featured in the photo accompanying the article is Sal Cesarani's Country District Check Necktie, a keen example of the retro, 1980s styling of which the writer speaks. The tie is paired with a denim shirt, red cable knit V-neck sweater, and sportcoat. For more CESARANI ties, visit www.cesarani.com!
